ALL ABOUT ACCOUNTS

2. ACCOUNT MANAGEMENT

2.1. Opening of account

Depending on the account type, you can request to open it online, or at a branch, or based on appointment with the bank staff. To open a new account you will need to:

- Meet certain eligibility criteria and be able to prove your eligibility, if required; and
- Supply certain documents and information to us, including your name, date of birth, address, telephone number, occupation.

Under the National Bank of Cambodia's Law on Anti-Money Laundering and Combating the Financing of Terrorism, the Bank is required to identify the account owner (along with any authorized signatories and related persons on the account). You can meet the identification requirements by providing original and valid identity documentation to us. If you or any of the signatories to an account is not identified in accordance with the applicable law, or you fail to satisfy any of our due diligence requirements, the Bank will be entitled to take any action permitted under Cambodian law, including closing your account. If you are an existing customer, you must have already fulfilled the identification requirement so you do not need to do it again unless you are required to do so.

In order to meet the Bank's regulatory and compliance obligations, the Bank must comply with any sanctions lists appropriate and applicable to Cambodia and any sanctions lists adopted by the Bank (collectively, the "Sanctions") when onboarding a customer. As such, you represent and warrant that you are not under any Sanctions ("Sanctioned Person") when you apply for an account or service and at all times you have maintained a banking relationship with us. If you are opening an account on behalf of a legal person (i.e., a company, branch, representative office, partnership, sole proprietorship, association, non-governmental organization, etc.), then you further represent and warrant that neither you, nor any of the legal person's subsidiaries, directors, officers or shareholders, nor, to the best of your knowledge, any of the legal person's affiliates, agents or employees, is a Sanctioned Person. If you or the legal person becomes sanctioned by any Sanctions, the Bank will suspend or close the account and terminate the banking relationship with you or the legal person. Where an account is suspended or closed, the Bank and its correspondents will not be liable for any loss you, the legal person, or any related person may suffer (including consequential losses) however caused.

2.2. Ownership of Account

You agree that when you open an account, the titling of the account (i.e., the ownership over the account) is proper and that the Bank has no responsibility to inform you as to how the titling may affect your legal interests (e.g., in case of a joint account, assets will be jointly owned by each person listed on the account). If you have any questions as to your legal rights and obligation for any of your accounts, you should consult with your own attorney or advisor. Certain regulations require that you provide us with information concerning any beneficial owners and related persons for the account at the account opening. You may also be asked to provide such information at other times upon request of the Bank. If at any time we determine that the beneficial ownership or related person information you provided to us was false, incorrect, or of concern to the Bank, or if you refuse to provide us with the information when requested, we may close or freeze any or all of your accounts, and take any other actions permitted under the Cambodian law.

2.2.1. Individual account

Any account may be owned by a holder individually subject to the terms of the GTC, and applicable law.

2.2.2. Joint/authorized accounts

If the option is available on the account, you may open an account jointly with your partner, family member, or a group of people. The balance of a joint/authorized account is held jointly by all account holders. This means that each account holder has the right to withdraw all available funds in the account based on the mandate. The account holder must sign a mandate telling us how the account can be operated. For joint accounts, the authorized mandate of operations can be:

- Singly – where any signatory can act individually; or
- Jointly – where two or more signatories must act together; or
- Any X of Z – where at least X number of signatories of total Z signatories must act together.

The Bank does not accept any other forms of mandate beyond the above-mentioned unless otherwise agreed in writing by the Bank.

For authorized accounts, the mandate must always be singly – where any signatories can act individually.

The joint account holders can change the mandate at any time by signing a new account mandate together.

Regardless of any mandate to operate, any party to a joint account can request us to operate the account only on the signature mentioned in the last mandate provided to us and which has come into effect. For any joint account opened on or after 1 February 2016, all account holders must sign on the application to revoke an existing mandate. Otherwise, joint account holders can request the Bank to close a joint account following a mandate that has been pre-set by arrangement of all account holders (for example, a mandate X of Z is to manage, operate and close account; thus, X number(s) of signatories can request Bank to close a joint account without a need to gather Z number(s) of signatories' signatures).

2.2.3. Account for minor

A minor is defined as a natural person under 18 years old. A minor can open a Bank account if accompanied by an adult. Bank offers various channels for the customers to open the minor account. The minor account will be opened as a Joint account between you and the minor unless it is stated otherwise in our specific terms.

The Bank allows you to open an account with the minor only if you can prove that you have a legitimate relationship with the minor. The relationship between you and the minor can be proven via some documents such as a birth certificate, passport of the minor (where the relationship between you and the minor is stated clearly), family book, or residential book, or any other type of document which can be acceptable at the Bank's sole discretion.

Though a joint account, you are the sole owner of the account, which mean you are the only authorized person to operate and close the account.

When the minor is old enough, you may transfer the ownership of the account or allow the minor to operate the account at your own discretion by visiting the Bank to sign necessary forms; or granting your authorization via other Bank's channels, including electronic channels. Though the account at any one time is operated either by you or the minor or both, the liability of the account is joint and several unless you have completely transferred the ownership and removed yourself from the account.

2.2.4. Trustee account

By signing the account authority, you authorize the person(s) named on the authority acting within their legal capacity, to manage and operate the account in accordance with the signing instructions. Meanwhile, the authorized account is regarded as a trust account.

2.2.5. View or access account information

Although the account mandate is stated besides "anyone to sign", you, your partner, an authorized account holder, a joint holder, or a signatory is allowed to view or access the account information either via OTC or electronic channel since they are a party to the account. The Bank as a result, will charge your account if there is any request from any of the above persons to view or access the account information; for example, requesting for a balance confirmation.

2.3. Changes in circumstances

If your age is below the threshold, you are required to have a guardian to process a joint account with you. Regardless of being a party of a joint account, your financial activity is limited if you are a minor. We will continue to make restrictions on the accounts of the minors unless we are informed that you are no longer a minor or are emancipated under Cambodian Law and able to submit adequate evidence that shall satisfy our due diligence requirements.

In case a party to a joint account passes away, the surviving account holders will remain jointly and severally liable on the account accordingly.

The Bank might decide to stop certain products and services due to a change of circumstances (for example, market conditions, legal requirements). We will notify you at least 30 days prior to converting your account, and/or and products or services to another account, and/or product or service. If you do not agree to the conversion to the other account, and/or product or service, you must inform us 10 days prior to the conversion and notify us of your intention to close the account and/or terminate the product or service and notify us as to where to pay your remaining funds. If you do not provide us with notice, you will be deemed to have consented to the conversion of your account, and/or product or service with us.

2.4. Tax Identification Number

The Foreign Account Tax Compliance Act (FATCA) requires Financial Institutions (FIs) to report the US Tax Identification Number (TIN) for a US Person, who has established a relationship with a Financial Institution (FI). A natural person or legal person is classified as a US Person if any of the criterion below apply:

- A US citizen (including a dual citizen);
- A US resident alien for tax purposes;
- A US Green Cardholder;
- A US partnership;
- A US corporation;
- A US estate other than foreign estate; or
- Any trust if: (i) any court in the US is able to exercise primary supervision over the administration over the trust, and (ii) one or more US persons have authority to control all substantial decisions of the trust.

You understand that the Bank is required by law to provide adequate and complete reports to various government agencies and you undertake to notify the Bank within 30 days whenever there is a change of your circumstances so that any of the above criterion becomes applicable to you. You expressly consent to the Bank providing any information about you to any government agencies if required under Cambodian law or to comply with the Bank's FATCA obligations.

Further, you agree that your failure to provide a correct, complete, and accurate TIN, or your failure to satisfy the conditions below may result in classifying your status into a 'recalcitrant account holder':

- Fails to comply with reasonable request for information necessary to determine if the account is a US account, including self-certification of your tax status;
- Fails to provide the name, address and TIN of each US Person or owner of a US-owned legal entity or business;
- Fails to provide a waiver of any foreign law that would prevent a foreign financial institution from reporting the information required under FATCA.

Recalcitrant account holders will be reported to applicable government agencies as part of the FATCA reporting.

2.5. Understanding responsibilities of a joint/authorized account

It is important to understand your responsibilities prior to opening a joint account. You should know that:

- The liability of joint account holders on an account is joint and several so if one or more account holders overdraws the account (if allowed), each joint account holder may be liable for payment of all or any part of the amount overdrawn;
- Individual and joint liability for indebtedness may arise if a subsequent disagreement occurs between you and the other joint account holder(s). In the event of such a disagreement, you should give immediate notice to the Bank and seek independent legal advice;
- The Bank may continue paying the interest of the joint/authorized account based on account type, or where there is a dispute in relation to your account over either the ownership of funds or the operation of the account, stop the operation either wholly or partially of the account upon request by any of the account holder or at the Bank's own discretion, pending resolution of any dispute;
- In the event of death of any of the joint/authorized account holder, the Bank will pay the other joint/authorized account holder(s) ("survivors") all moneys and other properties whatsoever standing to the credit of the joint/authorized account;

- If a joint account holder gives notice to the Bank to withdraw signatories from the joint account, the account will be stopped by the Bank but the joint and several liabilities of the accountholders for any outstanding debt will continue until repayment is made fully to the joint account;
- If jointly owned assets are provided as security for borrowing, you should seek independent legal advice about your liability for debts incurred now and in the future. Such an arrangement can be done only to any parties of such a joint account;
- For Online Banking access, you can view the account you have with joint account holders when mandate is not 'Singly'. In contrast, you can have same level of online access authority when the mandate is chosen as 'Singly';
- We may accept a check into a joint account which is payable to any one or more named account holders;
- Unless you have specified that two or more account holders are required to operate your joint account, your joint account may be closed by any of you (or other person with authority) so instructing the Bank. In such a case, the Bank will not be liable to the other joint account holder(s) for any consequences arising from the closure;
- The Bank may require all of the account holders to agree before action on the instruction of one account holder to close the account even if that account holder has authority to instruct the Bank;
- Whenever you want to amend/alter the operations of your joint accounts, joint account holders are required to physically present at the Bank to execute the applicable forms;
- The Bank may require time to verify and execute the request as per the Bank's internal procedures. The Bank may decide to block the operations of joint account for the interest of all account holders; or the Bank may decide to stop the operations temporarily during the execution of a request. The Bank shall NOT be liable for such potential damages and legal consequence as result of protecting the rest of joint account holders.

2.6. Your liability

You are responsible to the Bank for all liabilities incurred in relation to your account(s) and indemnify the Bank against any liability it may incur in respect of or arising out of your account(s) in the event you breach any duty or obligation under Cambodian law.

If you have only a joint account linked to your profile, you cannot use your joint account to self-activate ABA Mobile regardless of the mandate. However, if you self-active your ABA Mobile service using a single account, any joint account(s) linked to your profile will be shown in your ABA Mobile; access to such a joint account is based on the joint account mandate (for example, if mandate is 'singly', you can view and debit funds from such a joint account; otherwise, view only access is the default setting).

You are required to use any of the telephone numbers you registered with the Bank during the account opening process. If the Bank learns that your telephone number(s) has been deactivated or assigned to another subscriber/user by the telecommunication operator, the Bank will automatically update its record in its database if you fail to notify the Bank, as applicable law requires the Bank to keep each customer's profile up to date. The Bank may have verified that you are not in the possession of the telephone number you initially gave the Bank as part of the account opening process as the telephone number is now being claimed by a new subscriber/user. In such a case, you agree to indemnify the Bank against all types of losses if the Bank removes this telephone number from your profile maintained with the Bank as a result of your failure to notify the Bank of your current telephone number in a timely manner.

The Bank uses different means to secure your OTP (One-Time Password) delivery to activate your ABA Mobile profile. It is your obligation to make the OTP secret, and invisible to others and not to share the OTP and/or your ABA Mobile access credentials with another person, including Bank staff.

3.1.2. Internet Banking Service

If the Bank learns that your telephone number(s) has been deactivated or assigned to another subscriber/user by the telecommunication operator, the Bank will automatically update its record in its database if you fail to notify the Bank, as applicable law requires the Bank to keep each customer's profile up to date. As part of the Bank's customer due diligence obligations, the Bank may have verified that you are not in the possession of the telephone number you initially gave the Bank as part of the account opening process as the telephone number is now being claimed by a new subscriber/user. In such a case, you agree to indemnify the Bank against all types of losses if the Bank removes the telephone number from your profile maintained with the Bank as a result of your failure to notify the Bank of your current telephone number in a timely manner.

3.2. Getting started

3.2.1. Transaction Participants

The Bank defines procedures and limits as allowed by applicable law to identify and verify transaction details and participants. Transaction participants can be the account holder, an authorized person or a non-ABA account holder. Any participant besides an ABA account holder must disclose information required by the Bank to identify the participant and the nature of the request to be processed through the Bank's core banking system. Failure to disclose information required for each due diligence may result in the Bank's refusal to process the transaction as well as a review of the relationship with you as allowed by the Bank's terms and conditions and pursuant to applicable law.

3.2.2. ATM (Automatic Teller Machine)

The maximum amount of money you can withdraw from an ATM depends on your chosen card product and the maximum amount can be up to $1,000 per day (24-hour period). The Bank reserves the right to modify/alter the daily limits for ATM and POS transactions without prior notice to the extent permitted under Cambodian law. You will be advised when changes have been made through different communication channels.

If you make a transaction through an ATM before End of Day (EOD) of the Bank, that transaction may be processed on that day, or on the following business day, whether or not the branch of the Bank is open for business on that day. The Bank usually processes transactions received towards the EOD each evening.

You may be charged a fee for the use of your card in a non-ABA branded POS or ATM. This fee is detailed in the 'Service Charges' brochure, specific terms and conditions of product/service and/or the Bank's website.

You will need a card linked to your account to use ATM features. You can also use Ecash service to withdraw funds from an account. You can deposit cash into an account using your account number or the 16-digit card number. A check provides a convenient way of paying a bill or receiving a payment. Check withdrawals are only valid if your account allows check access.

3.2.10.1. Depositing a check

Any check, electronic deposit or other documents, which are lodged for deposit to your account are, unless otherwise agreed by the Bank, received on a "for collection" basis only. This means that the deposit is being "cleared" for payment. You cannot make a withdrawal against the amount until it has been cleared. This usually takes up to 2 working days, but in some instance may take up to 5 working days. If all or a portion of the deposit does not clear, some or all of the items that make up that deposit may be Dishonoured. Your account will be debited by the amount of the Dishonoured transactions.

There are several ways you can deposit a check, including:

Fees for banker's check ordered through Online Banking will be debited from your account along with the value of the banker's check.

When filling out a check, use ink or ballpoint pen to prevent alteration. Always write your check so that the words and figures cannot be altered or added to. You can do this by filling in the amount spaces completely, or by using a line to fill in any blank space. Remember to date the check. If you write checks made out to cash, do not sign them until you are ready to cash your check. You should never pre-sign a blank check.

If your account is overdrawn or you exceed an agreed borrowing limit (if allowed), the Bank may charge interest upon the amount by which the account is overdrawn, or the limit exceeded at the Bank's defined rate, plus a penalty margin. In addition, you will be charged an unarranged overdraft fee.

The decision to honor any transaction where there are insufficiently cleared funds available or where an agreed borrowing limit is exceeded on temporary and permanent basis, is made entirely at the Bank's sole discretion. Deposit accounts should not be overdrawn unless you have made prior arrangement with us such as through an overdraft.

You should not make a withdrawal or payment transaction which:

- Takes your account into negative/debit balance (or further into negative/debit balance) when no formal overdraft arrangement exists;
- Means you will incur fees which will take your account into negative/debit balance (or fees and/or interest charges which will take your account further into negative/debit balance) when no formal overdraft arrangement exists;
- Overdraws (or further overdraws) your account beyond the agreed overdraft limit when formal overdraft arrangement does exist;
- Draws against uncleared funds. While we are under no obligation to do so on any particular occasion, we may permit you to overdraw your account as described above. This may be, for example, by honoring a check or paying transaction made using other channels, such as Debit Mastercard, Visa, and UnionPay International ("UPI") Card, periodical payment, direct debit, or by making a withdrawal or payment transaction through an ATM or other electronic transaction channel.

3.2.12. Deposit in foreign currencies

An account is a United State Dollar ("USD") account. If we receive an amount or item in a foreign currency for deposit to your account (including a telegraphic transfer or check drawn in foreign currency) we will convert the foreign currency amount into USD using the retail exchange rate that we make available for the foreign currency on that day. Visit any branch for more information about exchange rates that we offer.

3.2.13. Deposit to your account for a particular purpose

The Bank will not receive a deposit to your account on the basis that the deposit is to be reserved or applied for any particular purpose (i.e., collection of funds from high-yield investment program you have invested in), even if your account description specifies a particular purpose, unless you specifically advise that the deposit are for the account of someone else and you open a separate trust account for such deposit. Except as otherwise provided in this clause, all deposits, which are made to your account will be dealt with in the normal course of business.

3.2.14. Deposit made in error by ABA to your account

The Bank may reverse a payment to your account if we have made an error.

3.2.15. Automatic Payment

To set up an automatic payment you may visit any ABA branch or self-activate in ABA's Online Banking services.

If the instruction you give the Bank is for an automatic payment for a business purpose, the Bank accepts the instruction without any liability for any refusal or omission to make all or any of the automatic payments, or any liability for any late payment or for any omission to follow such instructions.

The Bank will use reasonable care and skill to give effect to the instruction you give to bank in relation to an automatic payment. The Bank relies on the accuracy of the automatic payment information you give and is not required to check its accuracy. You should advise the Bank immediately of any information about an automatic payment shown on your bank statement that is incorrect.

An automatic payment authority is subject to any arrangement now or hereafter subsisting between you and the Bank in relation to your account. The Bank may make automatic payment in any order it wishes. The payment will be subject to clearance against available funds and may be honored, rejected or reversed if funds are not available.

If the due date for payment of any automatic payments falls on a non-business day, then it will be processed by us on the next business day, unless you request us to process any such payment on the business immediately before the non-business day on which it is due.

An automatic payment authority will remain in force until terminated by the Bank, or the payee, or you tell the Bank to cancel it, or if you die or become bankrupt (and upon the Bank being notified of your death or bankruptcy).

The Bank will not get involved in any dispute between you and any person arising out of an automatic payment. Any request to make an automatic payment that is not on the Bank's standard form will be deemed to include the terms set out in the Bank's standard form. If there is any inconsistency between those forms, the terms of the Bank's standards form will prevail.

3.2.16. Dormant account

If your account does not have any activity for 12 months or more from the last transaction date (excluding system transactions), your account will be classified as a Dormant Account and the Bank can do any of the following:

- We will not allow any withdrawal from the account unless its status is changed from the status of 'dormant' to 'active'. The account holder shall visit a Bank branch or use other available channels before the status is changed.
- We can charge a fee. The fee for inoperative/dormant accounts is detailed in the "Service Charge" brochure in the terms and conditions for specific products and services and/or the Bank's website.
- We can close your account automatically without prior notice if you have a balance of zero, or if we believe that your account is likely to go into unarranged overdraft due to regular account and other fees.

Prior to subscribing to an ABA account and service, you are advised by us and you acknowledge that the account must be active, used for the declared purpose, and conducted in a satisfactory manner. An inoperative account will be classified as 'dormant' and be subject to fee charges imposed by the Bank. The Bank will also be entitled to restrict access on your account, and take other actions permitted under Cambodian law, until your account status is re-classified as 'active'. Thus, you acknowledge and agree that it is your obligation to keep account 'active' and without the need to be reminded by the Bank that your account could be classified as dormant if you fail to use it. The Bank may, but is not obliged to do so, reach out to you to inform you of possible charges to be applied when the account becomes dormant by any means allowed by the Bank's terms and conditions. You are advised and highly recommended to re-activate the account before a fee and charge is applied as well as other restrictions being imposed.

3.2.17. Reactivation of a dormant account

Bank allows reactivation of a dormant account after we have verified that you are an account holder or a signatory of the dormant account.

The Bank offers various channels that you may use to reactivate your dormant account i.e. you may make a request by filling up a form to change your account status from Dormant to Active or make a cash withdrawal from your account at one of our branches nearest to you. Alternatively, you may reactivate your account via our electronic channels by performing a debit transfer from the dormant account itself.

3.2.18. Unclaimed money in dormant account

If you have not made any transaction on your dormant account for 10 (ten) years, we may close your account, and transfer any prescribed money in your account to the National Bank of Cambodia ("NBC") or government agencies as required by applicable law without any further notice to you for administration. We may, but are not obliged to do so, notify you before we close your dormant account, but there may be circumstances where we are not able to (such as where our records of your address or contact details are out of date). You can visit any branch to find out how to recover unclaimed money (although it may take times to recover money that has been transferred to the government).

3.2.19. Suspension, close or combining of accounts

You may at any time request the Bank to close your account. The Bank will require you to be present in person to request a closure of your account. You are advised to close your account only at the home branch where you opened the account. However, the Bank may exercise its discretion to allow you to close your account at a different bank branch depending on the type of account you opened and your instruction to release the funds during the account closure process.

If the Bank considers that any of your accounts are not being conducted in a satisfactory manner, it may suspend the operations or close any/all of your accounts. The Bank will not be liable for any loss resulting from the suspension or closure. Unless clearly impracticable in the circumstances, the Bank will close your account only after having given reasonable notice to you and setting out the details of the account(s) to be closed.

The Bank may at any time, and without notice to you, apply the whole or any part of any credit balance on any of your accounts in any currency towards payment of any indebtedness by you to the Bank. If any amount is contingently due or not quantified, the Bank can withhold repayment of any credit balance pending that amount becoming due or being quantified and may set off the maximum liability which may at any time be or becoming due. This paragraph is without prejudice and in addition to any right of set-off, combination of accounts, lien or other rights to which the Bank is otherwise entitled whether by way of operation of law, contract, or otherwise.

The Bank may suspend the operations of any account or close any of your accounts without prior notice to you if (and this list is not exhaustive):

- You conduct your account in an unsatisfactory manner (i.e., dishonoring checks, account is used in dealing with prohibited activities);

- You have acted unlawfully;
- You have breached the terms and condition for any account or product or service;

3.2.20. Closing your accounts

- You or any other authorized person, based on the account mandate instruction given by you during the account opening, can close your account any time via the Bank channels.
- On rare occasions, we may exercise our discretion to close account or refuse to accept further deposits or allow further withdrawals due to unsatisfactory conduct or for any other reason we deem appropriate, such as:
 - Where your account is designed for domestic or personal use by you as a personal customer and is being used for other purposes; or
 - Where you hold an account that has been designed to promote your interests as an account holder who is under the age of majority, namely a minor, and in our reasonable opinion, the account is being used for purposes that do not benefit you or are not in your interests as an account holder who is under 18 years of age. We will notify you or the signatory/signatories) before we close the account.

3.2.21. Things to remember when closing your account

When you close your account, you must provide to us any:

4. UNDERSTANDING DEBIT CARDS

4.1. Authorizing someone else to use your account

A separate authority must be given by you to authorize another person to access your account via card and this authority is separate from that to authorize another person to operate an account via the branch (which is set out below). Refer to card terms and conditions for further information on authorizing someone else to access your account via card as an authorized card user. For a joint account, each joint account holder must sign the authority. The Notice of Authority form is available in branch and on ababank.com.

Liability after cancellation	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ Any account holder or the authorized signatory can cancel the authority to operate at any time, subject to the terms and conditions of the account, except where there is a single authorized signatory on an account held by a minor. ▪ However, you will be liable for: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ Any transactions made (including if they have been made by a third party) prior to the authority being cancelled even if they have not been debited to the account (including any associated fees and charges); and ▪ Any future dated payments, checks, authority debit, periodic payments, bill payments, drafts, bills of exchange, or promissory notes established by the authorized signatory prior to the cancellation of the authority to the extent these payment types are allowed on your account.
Authority relating to Debit Card	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ We may have issued an additional debit card to any person nominated by you, provided that each person is a major (independent bylaw) and subject to the Bank's review authority. ▪ You are responsible to the Bank for the use by a third-party cardholder of their debit card.
Authorized signatory authority	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ An authorized signatory will not be able to add or delete any other third party on the account to which they have access. ▪ In addition to an authorized signatory's other authorities, the authorized signatory will be able to do the following, only where the account holder is underage of 18: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ Alter the account holder's details on the account. ▪ On rare occasions, acting reasonably, we may remove the authority to operate of anyone authorized to operate your account due to unsatisfactory conduct or for any other reason we deem appropriate, such as if we believe allowing the authority to remain on your account may cause loss to you or us.
Disputes	If we are notified of a dispute about a notice of authority, or the owner or owners of an account, we may refuse to allow operations on your account until all parties concerned have signed any authority we require.

If you require an additional card for someone else's use, you maybe apply to the Bank to issue a supplementary card to a person nominated by you through a formal request. That person must be appointed as a supplementary on your account and must be able to sign independently.

A supplementary card may be used to access your accounts and is subject to these conditions. As the account holder, you will be responsible the use of any agent/supplementary card as if you had used it personally and for any breach of those conditions by the person nominated by you.

To cancel the authority of any agent/supplementary person on your account to whom an agent/supplementary card has been issued you must, in addition to notify the Bank of the cancellation, specifically request the Bank to cancel the agent/supplementary card and return it to the Bank. The agent/supplementary card will be cancelled when the Bank receives it.

4.2. Rules about your debit card

These conditions apply to the use of the Bank's debit card issued for accessing your account. By using your card for an electronic transaction, you agree to be bound by these conditions in addition to specific terms and condition set out in card term and conditions.

In case, you wish that the card should be delivered to you at your address or another place determined by you, you agree that the Bank can deliver such card to you via service provider appointed by the Bank and you agree that the Bank can disclose certain Personal Information of yours to the service provider for the purpose of arranging delivery. You agree to indemnify the Bank against all loses and claims as a result of your consent to the Bank to exchange information with the service provider to deliver the card to you personally.

You further agree that if the card has been issued and is not collected by you after 60 days from date of issuance, the Bank has the right to cancel the card without refunding any of card issuance fee or card annual fee to you and you further agree that you will need to pay for the card reissuance fee again if you wish to re-apply for the debit card.

4.2.2. Activation of your debit card

You understand that the card cannot be used if it is not activated. Therefore, you agree to activate your card immediately through an ATM or ABA Mobile once you have the card in your possession and you will change your PIN immediately.

You understand that during activation over an ATM or ABA Mobile, a PIN code will be sent to your phone number registered with the Bank and therefore, you agree to ensure that your phone is working properly during the activation process.

You understand that the PIN sent to you never expires and is always the same regardless how many PINs you have requested; therefore, you acknowledge and agree that you will change the PIN immediately once you collected the card. Failing to do so, you agree to indemnify the Banks against any/all kinds of losses resulting from your negligence.

The Bank may introduce other online channels for card activation, and if it does, the Bank will notify you.

4.2.3. Protecting your debit card and PIN

When you receive your card, you must immediately sign the back of it with your usual signature printed on the Account Form/Specimen Signature Form. You must keep your card with you or in a safe place at all times.

You may select a Personal Identification Number ("PIN") for your card at any ATM, through ABA Mobile, or at a Bank branch. Your PIN gives you access to your nominated account with the Bank. The PIN you select must not be:

- An easily identifiable or sequential combination of numbers (such as 1100 or 3456); or
- Based on easily accessible data (such as birth dates or parts of telephone numbers).

It is important that you memorize your PIN. If you have any difficulty remembering your PIN, please consult the Bank on selection of your PIN.

You must not:

- Keep any record of it either on or with your card, or in any other place; or
- Write it down; or
- Disclose it to any person, including family members or those in apparent authority, including the Bank staff; or
- Negligently disclose it (i.e., by not taking care to prevent others seeing you key in your PIN).

If your PIN is disclosed to any person, you must change it immediately. Please advise the Bank if you do not wish to use the function accessed by a PIN.

4.2.4. Card validity and expiry

Cards should only be used within the 'valid from' and 'valid thru' dates. As soon as a card expires, ensure that you destroy it by cutting it into several pieces and disposing of them securely.

- Any other unauthorized transactions where it is clear that you could not have contributed to the loss.

You are liable for all losses you have acted fraudulently, either alone or together with any other person. You may be liable for all losses from unauthorized transactions if you have contributed to or caused that loss by, for example:

If you have promptly reported the loss or theft of your card, or the actual or possible disclosure of a PIN, you are not liable for loss occurring after notification, unless you have acted fraudulently or negligently.

The Bank will not get involved in any dispute between you and any person you pay, or try to pay, through the internet.

If the Bank seeks in any manner to enforce or protect any of its rights or resolve any dispute relating to an account, the Customer will pay the Bank all the costs, fees, and incidental charges, such as legal fees, and the Bank is authorized to debit the customer's account accordingly.

5. YOUR STATEMENTS

5.1. What to do if you want to dispute a transaction?

If you need to dispute a transaction, you should do so in writing as soon possible and no later than 90 days after the value date of transaction posted in your statement. In some circumstances, card scheme rules allow us to charge a transaction on the account back to the merchant with whom you made the transaction. This is known as a chargeback. If it is available, we will claim a chargeback right for a transaction on your account if:

- You ask us to do so; and
- You give us the information and material we require to support a chargeback, within 30 days after the date of the statement on which the transaction is recorded.

Otherwise any chargeback right we have may be lost. The timeframe for disputing a transaction may not apply where the 3DS (3D Security) code applies. The ability to dispute a transaction may be lost if it is not reported to us within these timeframes.

5.2. Confirmation of transaction

When you use your ABA card (Visa, UPI and/or Mastercard issued by ABA) on POS terminal and/or eCommerce platform, the transaction receipt is printed. The transaction receipt will show the details of your transaction (i.e., amount, date, etc.). Please keep the printed receipt and check them against your account statement.

5.3. Statement

You should keep all vouchers, receipts, and transaction records given to you when using your card. You can use these to verify the transactions on your account.

Even if there are no transactions posted to your account in a statement period (which is issued at the end of each calendar month), a statement will always be issued regularly. You can choose to receive your statement more frequently by visiting a branch and/or downloading it from the ABA Online Banking service.

The Bank may, but is not obliged to do so, remind you of the availability of a paper statement or e-statement by sending you an SMS message to your registered phone number or an email notification. Such notification, if served, shall evidence that the Bank has made your accountant statement available to you.

To protect the funds in your bank account, you are informed of your responsibility to exercise ordinary care by verifying your account statement promptly whenever a new account statement is issued at the end of each month. It is your responsibility to verify your account statement promptly whenever a new account statement becomes available even if ABA does not send you a monthly reminder.

To facilitate the delivery of an account statement in an efficient manner, you are advised to subscribe for ABA Online Banking Service to download an e-statement at least once per month so that you can verify it on a monthly basis and at other times when you want to verify it.

5.4. Electronic statement (e-statement)

You understand and agree that by requesting electronic delivery, you will not receive statements in paper form. You agree that electronic delivery will satisfy the Bank's requirement to provide you a periodic statement of your account(s) activity. To receive an e-statement, you must download through ABA Mobile or Internet Banking service.

Otherwise, you shall subscribe through written request to get e-statement delivered to your email address. It is your responsibility to notify the Bank in writing any time you change your email address, or if you wish to remove any account from electronic delivery. For your protection and for security purposes, the Bank will not accept any change of email address via telephone or email.

Even though you have requested electronic delivery of your statements, you may obtain a paper copy of your account statement. You may receive a copy of your statement by contacting the Bank through different means and requesting a copy of your statement. The Bank may apply a service fee for printing your account statement.

The e-statement notification can be sent to only one e-mail address. For example, the notification cannot go to both account holders on a joint account. The bank shall have no obligation or liability to notify any other parties on an account, if the email address is changed using the procedure set forth above. You agree to protect the confidentiality of your account, account number, username and password. You agree that it is your responsibility to ensure that the e-statements are not intercepted or viewed by others and for ensuring that you have logged out when your session is complete to prevent unauthorized access to your account. It is your responsibility to contact us if you know or suspect unauthorized use of your access credentials.

We will supply you with account e-statement as often as you have requested ABA Online Banking. You can download and access to your statement up to 6 months.

5.5. Things to remember about statement

Remember, statements are an important part of your banking and finances in general. Please be advised that:

- All entries on statements should be checked carefully and any apparent or possible unauthorized transaction promptly reported to us;
- All transactions will appear on the account statement; however, the statement narrative will not identify the initiator of the transaction;
- You should retain transaction records or transaction record numbers to confirm against items appearing on the statement of your account;
- Statements cannot be sent to a branch for collection, unless in exceptional circumstances; and
- The Bank will assist any claim you may need to make regarding any lack of authority, including forgery, or any other discrepancy; for examples, if there is any check noted on your statement which we have paid but you did not authorize, or if any other amount has been debited to your account without your authority.

5.6. Verification of statement

You must check your bank statement (paper or e-statement) for all accounts belonging to you as soon as you receive or get access to them, and no later than 30 days of the issuance date of the bank account statement, to ensure that the entries recorded on them are correct and that there are no incorrect, suspicious or unauthorized transactions because you are in the best position to detect any incorrect, suspicious or unauthorized transactions.

You must notify us in writing within 60 days (but no later than 90 days from the issuance date of the bank account statement) of becoming aware of any incorrect, suspicious or unauthorized transactions posted into your bank statement. Any failure to exercise ordinary care will constitute negligence and you will be liable for any damages or losses caused to the bank by your negligence and such negligence will preclude you from asserting against the Bank any unauthorized transaction on your account.

If you don't notify us, then to extent permitted by applicable law:

- You will be deemed to have accepted that the balance of the account(s) and all transactions recorded on the bank statements are lawful and correct;
- We have all a full defense against any action you take against the Bank for any claim of any nature, including any claims for breach of contract, negligence, wrongful debiting of funds, or any other tort, equitable remedy or any other cause of action brought against us in relation to your account, or the transaction recorded on the bank statement.

5.7. Discrepancy, error, question or complaint

Please contact the branch closest to you, our Contact Centre (highly recommended channel), immediately if:

- You think there is discrepancy/error on your statement;
- Money has been lost due to an ATM or card malfunction;
- You have any question or complaint.

You will need to give the Bank:

- Your name;
- Your account number;
- Your card number (if applicable);
- Your phone verification code for verification over the phone (if applicable), and
- Any detail you can about the suspicious error or malfunction or the nature of your question, including the amount of money involved and transaction details.

The Bank will make every effort to answer/resolve your question, complaint, or dispute quickly and fairly. Where the Bank establishes that an error did occur, it will promptly correct the error (to the extent possible) and reimburse any interest or fees charged to you as a result of the error. The Bank will adjust any error that has been posted on your statement.

You acknowledge and agree that there might be possible circumstance whereby dissatisfaction or dispute would occur between parties (you and us) as a nature of service delivery in general. You are willing to cooperate with the Bank and to follow the Bank's procedures for complaint resolutions. The Bank has established a dedicated unit for Complaint Resolution and you are advised to discuss with this dedicated unit when you are not satisfied with your first attempt to resolve the dispute.

If you remain unsatisfied after the Bank's dedicated unit for complaint resolution concludes your case, you can get further support from the National Bank of Cambodia pursuant to their dispute resolution mechanism. The Bank will use any evidence received or uncovered during the initial fact-finding process during the complaint resolution process with the National Bank of Cambodia.

6. USING CHECKS

6.1. Check order form, check book, and credit slip

Checks supplied to you in a check book will have an account number marked on them. These checks may only be used to make drawings on that account. Your check book should be safeguarded at all times. Any loss of a check or authorized withdrawal should be reported to the Bank as soon as possible.

Deposit slips, which have an account number marked on them, are only to be used for deposits to that account. Deposit slips and checks remain the property of the Bank after you have received them, and they must be returned to the Bank on request.

6.2. Collection of checks

The Bank may transmit checks or other documents to other locations for collection or processing in accordance with normal banking practices. The Bank will not be liable for any loss or destruction as result of that transmission unless that loss or destruction is caused by the Bank's negligence.

6.3. Deposit check made at non-ABA bank to ABA account

If a check drawn on an ABA is deposited at a bank other than ABA, the check will treat on a "for collection" basis, which means that ABA will wait for the funds to clear before ABA makes the funds available.

6.4. Third-party check deposits

Checks can normally only be deposited into the account of the individual(s) or entity (hereafter called 'person') named as payee on the check. If you are depositing a check to your account, where you are not the person(s) (i.e. you are a 'third party'), please ensure that the payee transfers ownership to you by signing the back of the check in the following manner:

Please pay (your account name)

Signed (payee's signature)

In addition, at the time you make the deposit, we will ask you how you got the check. This is to confirm your ownership of the check and avoid problems that sometimes occur with lost or stolen checks. If the check has not been properly signed over to you, or if a satisfactory explanation is not given as to how you received it, we may refuse to accept deposit of the check.

6.5. Withdrawing money from a deposited check

Normally you will not be able to withdraw the value of a check you deposit until the check has cleared, even though your account may be credited with the proceeds of the check. This rule applies even to checks made payable to "cash". In some cases, withdrawals may be permitted earlier. This is only done at our sole discretion and you should contact your branch. When drawings are made before a deposited check has cleared, you will have to reimburse us if the check is subsequently dishonored and for other fees and charges that may be payable.

6.6. How to get access to check funds early

A valid check can sometimes be cleared on the day it is presented if you are willing to pay for the service, which is called 'Special Clearance' subject to a cuff-off time imposed by the Bank. The check will be cleared for you to withdraw the funds once it is paid by the other bank.

6.7. Things you should know about writing checks

- Any check books issued on the account (where available) will bear the name of the account holder. You should safeguard your check books;
- Check books will be not mailed to the account holder(s) mailing address unless alternative arrangements are made by the account holder and subject to the bank's sole discretion to consider such a request or not;
- Check books can be sent to an ABA branch for collection. Certain fees and charges maybe imposed by the Bank. You further understand agree that the delivery of the check book may be delayed if it is delivered to a branch for collection.

6.8. Types of checks

Personal checks	<ul style="list-style-type: none">▪ These are available for Everyday Banking accounts. The checks are drawn on your account and are prepared by you;▪ Check books can also be ordered by visiting any branch or issuing an instruction on Online Banking.
Open or uncrossed check	<ul style="list-style-type: none">▪ An open check is one that is uncrossed, that is, a check that does not have two parallel lines across it. It is an instruction to us to pay anyone who presents the check (assuming that the check is a 'bearer' Check) at our branch where the drawer's account is held, rather than the Check being required to be deposited into the account;▪ If the check was lost and presented for payment by the person who found it, we would not normally be responsible for reimbursing the money to the drawer. You should always make your instructions clear.

Crossed Check	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> When you “cross” a check with double lines at the top and left corner of the check, this act means that the check must be deposited into an account. It cannot be cashed.
Not/non-transferable or account payee only Checks.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> This means the check cannot be transferred or endorsed to someone else and it can only be paid to a bank account in the same name of whoever the check is made out to. It cannot be cashed.
‘Not negotiable’ checks	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> A check is a negotiable instrument, that is, it can be passed from one person to another; A crossed check, with or without the words ‘not negotiable’ written between the lines, protects the ‘true owner’ in case it is lost or stolen.
‘Or bearer’ checks	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> If the words ‘or bearer’ appear at the end of the line on which you have written the payee’s name and you leave the check uncrossed and without the words ‘not negotiable’ on it, we will have to pay the proceeds to anyone who presents the check; If, on an uncrossed check, you cross out ‘or bearer’ or write in ‘or order’ and the check is presented for payment in cash, we have to pay the proceeds only to the person whose name is on the check, or as they direct.

6.9. Dishonored check

If a check is returned to us unpaid it means it has been dishonored by the paying bank on which the check was drawn. If that happens, we may return the check to you. We will also reverse the entry in your account, that is, deduct the amount we credited. If the check you deposited is not paid, it is your responsibility to pursue payment from the person who gave it to you. A check may be dishonored when there are not sufficient funds in the account of the writer of the check or there is some irregularity in connection with the check.

6.10. Why may a check be dishonored?

There are a number of reasons why a check may be dishonored, some of which are:

- There are insufficient available funds in the account of the drawer (the person who signed the check) to cover the amount written on the check;
- The check is not signed, the signature is not valid or more than one signature is required;
- The check has been ‘stopped’ by the drawer (see the ‘stopping a payment’ section for more information on ‘stopping’ checks and any fees involved);
- The check is stale – presented for payment more than 6 months after the date written on it (although we may still process it);
- The check has been materially altered without the alterations being properly signed or initialed.

You are charged a fee for every check you issue that is dishonored (known as an ‘outward dishonor’). This fee is detailed in the “Service Charge” brochure, specific product/services terms and conditions and/or our website. If you deposit a check received from a person and it is dishonored (known as an ‘inward dishonor’), you will not be charged a fee. If a check has not been cleared, the entry will be corrected as soon as possible.

When a check is deposited to your account and has been dishonored, the amount of the deposit is reversed (debited) from your account. Checks will be dishonored within the same day, or at the latest 2 working days, after being processed through the clearing house.

6.11. Post-dated checks

A post-dated check means that the check is dated with a future date. The National Bank of Cambodia requires post-dated checks to be cleared regardless of a check being presented before, on, or after the date written on the check. The Bank strongly recommends that you do not post-date your checks.

6.12. Altering a check

If you need to alter a check, the signatory(ies) must sign off with a full signature next to the change. Permitted changes include increasing/decreasing the amount on the check, changing the date, and/or altering the payee's name. If the alteration has not been signed it could result in your check being dishonored.

6.13. Stale checks

A check presented for payment more than six months after the date of the check dated may be dishonored on the ground that it is a "Stale Check".

6.14. Check confirmation before payment

The Bank may, but is not obliged to do so, contact the account holder(s) or signatories of an account to confirm the account holders' awareness of the check being presented before drawing the funds. The Bank in its sole discretion will establish limits for confirming a check. It may also revise the limit from time to time based on the reasonable request of a customer as part of the Bank's valued added service. The applicable law does not require bank to obtain confirmation from the check issuer (payer) when accepting a check to clear.

The Bank will bear no liability for not obtaining prior confirmation from the account holder (as doing so is not required under the applicable law), except any loss as result of the Bank's gross negligence. If the customer does not want to be contacted for confirmation, we strongly advise that you discuss with your Relationship Manager for better ways to monitor your account transactions (for example, subscribe to Online Banking Service) and visit our Bank branch to complete a form "request to stop being informed for a check payment."

6.15. Banker checks

Bank checks, drawn by a bank on itself, are a widely accepted means of safe payment, and a safe alternative way to carrying large amounts of cash.

6.16. Getting a banker check

Banker checks can be purchased at any branch or via Online Banking Service. You can pay for the banker check and the fee by debiting funds from your account. Fees for banker checks purchased via Online Banking Service will be charged to your account along with the value of the banker check purchased.

6.17. Things to remember with banker checks

A banker check has to be cleared like any other check and may be dishonored for the same reasons as a personal check. If a banker check you have purchased is lost, stolen, or destroyed, please contact any of our branches immediately with your original banker check purchase receipt. There is a fee for replacing a banker check.

If a banker check is no longer required, the purchaser, may cancel it and request a refund at any branch. The original banker check and purchase receipt should be provided when requesting a refund. The Bank may impose a fee for refunding a banker check.

6.18. Stopping a payment

If necessary, a check that you have written may be cancelled or stopped. You will need to advise the Bank as soon as possible of your wish to stop the check. The Bank will require details of the check, who it is made out to and the amount and date of the check and reason for cancellation.

Similarly, if your checks or check book(s) have been stolen, lost, or damaged, you will need to advise the Bank as soon as possible of your wish to stop the remaining checks. The Bank will require to have the knowledge of the serial number of the stolen or lost checks.

You are required to visit a Bank branch to complete and sign a "Stop Payment Request". If the check(s) has/have not been presented for payment, the Bank will make every effort to ensure non-payment of your check(s). However, the Bank will not be liable if payment on any check is not stopped. A fee will be charged for cancelling or stopping a check. This fee is detailed in the "Service Charge" brochure, specific product/service's terms and conditions and/or our website.

This section covers how we stop certain types of payments from your account.

Stopping check payments	Stopping periodical payments or regular transfers	Stopping a Direct Debit or a regular payment
If you want to stop a check payment, you can do so if you notify us before it has been paid. You must contact our Contact Centre and submit a written and signed instruction (in ABA's standard form). There is a fee for stopping a check, but this will not apply if your check book has been lost, stolen or destroyed or where the check book is no longer required and the checks are not signed.	If you have authorized us to make regular automatic payments or regular transfers from your account, and you want to stop those payments or transfers you will need to notify us at least one business day before the payment or transfer is scheduled. If you set up a recurring payment in Online Banking, you can stop it online.	You can authorize another third party to debit your account for payment of services (for example, life insurance premiums or utility bills). If you want to stop the arrangement, you can do this in two ways: 1. Contacting us to request a cancellation. Please note this is only available for Direct Debits. We can then contact the authorized party on your behalf to request a cancellation. We will promptly process any: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ Instruction by you to cancel a Direct Debit Request relevant to a banking service we provide to you; or ▪ Complaint by you that a Direct Debit was unauthorized or otherwise irregular. 	2. Contacting the authorized party yourself to request a cancellation. If you have provided your card number and expiry date to a merchant, you will need to contact them to request a cancellation. Please note, unlike Direct Debits, ABA is unable to cancel a regular payment (also known as a card recurring payment) on your behalf. Until you cancel your authority, the merchant is entitled to request ABA to debit the account and ABA is obliged to process this request.

What details we will need to stop the payment:		When you contact us to request the cancellation, we can complete the request on your behalf and forward it to the authorized party. We will then put a 'stop' on your account which will prevent all withdrawals by the previously authorized party for a period of five years. You can request this 'stop' to be cancelled at any time. Without any request for amendment, we will cancel this facility.	If the merchant does not comply with your request to cancel the authority, you must provide ABA with a copy of the correspondence with the merchant to enable ABA to dispute the relevant transaction(s) on your behalf.

11.10. Credit of interest

The Bank pays interest on credit balances in certain types of accounts. Interest is calculated on a daily basis for interest bearing savings and transactional accounts and is credited to your account on the key date. Your account's key date will be due on same calendar day of each month or quarter depending on your account type. If your account key's date falls on a non-business day, your account's key date will automatically move to the next business day of the month.

The interest paid or credited by the Bank will be affected by applicable taxes. The tax status of the account holder will determine the type and amount of tax deducted. The Bank relies on the tax status and information (where appropriate) provided by the account holder. Resident Withholding Tax ("RWT") will be deducted from interest payments made to Cambodian account holders.
